This text addresses the culture influences on human behavior and mental processes including the examination of the diversity on human thought, feelings, and behavior, and the underlying reasons for such diversity. The text takes an interdisciplinary social science approach to understanding culture, with an emphasis on psychology. Culture is viewed broadly, including ethnicity and race, economic class, gender and sexual orientation.
Front Matter

1: Culture and Psychology
2: Cultural Learning
3: Racial and Ethnic Inequality
4: Understanding Communities, Society and Inequality
5: Research Methods and Culture
6: Culture and Development
7: Culture and Cognition
8: Culture and Social Behavior
9: Culture and Sexuality
10: Gender
11: Sexual Orientation and Inequality
12: Culture of Self and Personality
13: Culture and Physical Health
14: Culture and Mental Health
15: Cultural Identity
16: Living in a Multicultural World
17: Our Future
18: Exploring Socio-Cultural Perspectives in Diversity (Cozart et al.)

Back Matter